Description of course objectives: This course introduces the student to scuba through academic and confined water training. During these training sessions, students will learn how to assemble, operate, and break down scuba systems. Students will also learn basic scuba skills such as mask and regulator clearing, emergency air management, and dive planning.

Pre-requisite(s): Students must be able to swim 200 yards without stopping and tread water for 10 minutes.

Required and Recommended Readings: PADI Open Water Diver manual and PADI Log Book are included in course fee and will be supplied at your first class.

Required and Recommended Equipment/Material(s): Mask, fins, snorkel, and boots are recommended but not required. A special discount is provided to UWM students who purchase prior to the first pool dive.

Special out-of-class assignments: Students who wish to earn the PADI Open Water Diver certification must participate in four open water dives that are conducted over two days. PADI certification and the open water dives are not part of the UWM program and are not factored into the student's grade. Additional fees apply.

Tips for successful participation in class: Students should make sure to attend every class and pool session. For your safety, PADI standards do not permit classroom sessions or pool dives to be taken out of order. Therefore, you will not be permitted to attend any class following an absence, regardless of the reason, without making up the material that was missed.

Grading Policies: Grades are based upon successful completion of all pool dives and scores on 4 quizzes and a final exam.

Schedule:

Schedules for all UWM courses taught through Aquatic Adventures can be found at <https://diveaai.com/en/uw-milwaukee-scuba-program>. Schedules may change due to time constraints, weather, or availability of dive sites and facilities. All changes will be posted on this web page.

Assignment Policies:

MISSED CLASS POLICY: Because dive industry standards prohibit students from attempting complex skills without having first mastered the more elementary skills on which they are based, students may not be allowed to rejoin their class if they miss a classroom, confined water, or open water dive. A $25 per hour private instruction fee is charged to make up missed classes if the training cannot be completed with another class. If the instructor or student cannot coordinate their scheduled to make up missed classes, the student will be asked to withdraw from the course.

UWM RENTAL POLICY: Students will be issued equipment for confined water and open water dives. That equipment may be used only by that student and only for purposes of scuba training in this course. Use for any other purpose is strictly prohibited. Any student found in violation of this policy will be expelled from class and all course fees will be forfeited.

During the time of rental, students are responsible for the proper care of the rented gear as outlined in the PADI Open Water Diver manual. Students will be charged for any damage to equipment that is the result of negligence, including exposure to heat or cold. Students will also be charged for the return of equipment that has not been properly rinsed following open water training.

All rental equipment is due back to Aquatic Adventures, Inc. by 7:00 p.m. on the next business day following the final day of confined water training or by 2:00 p.m. on the final day of open water training. Students who pick up equipment and then fail to show up for a confined water or open water training dive must return their gear by 7:00 p.m. on the next business day. Any student who fails to return gear at the appropriate time will be charged the standard rental charge for each day the equipment is late. No certifications or university grades will be issued to students who fail to return their gear or have outstanding balances with Aquatic Adventures, Inc. that are the result of late returns or damage due to negligence. Equipment that is not returned within 3 business days of the return date will be considered stolen and will be reported to the appropriate authorities.

CERTIFICATION: Open water training is NOT part of the Skin & Scuba program at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. Students who wish to receive a PADI certification must attend four open water dives. A one-time certification fee will be collected from UWM students when they register for the open water dives to cover administrative fees. This fee is non-refundable. Students who fail to show up for an open water dive will need to pay an additional $25 to register for another day. However, the standard life-support equipment rental package fee is provided free of charge for one weekend as a courtesy to UWM Skin & Scuba students attending open water training. Personal gear, entry fees, and any other items that are not provided in the standard Aquatic Adventures Open Water Diver course are the responsibility of all students attending open water dives.

MEDICAL CONDITIONS AND PRESCRIPTION DRUGS: Students with medical conditions should consult the RSTC Medical Statement on the Aquatic Adventures website, <https://diveaai.com/en/medical-statement>. Students answering "YES" to any question on the form will be required to get a doctor's approval to dive before being allowed to participate in any pool activities. If you have a medical condition or are currently using prescription drugs, please print out this form and bring it to your doctor or the Norris Health Center. Your doctor or a campus doctor can certify your fitness to participate in scuba diving. Bring the completed form with you to your first class. Please note, only students with medical conditions need to be evaluated by a doctor.

UWM POLICIES AND FEES: All University of Wisconsin – Milwaukee students are required to familiarize themselves with the schedules, policies, and fees associated with scuba training by reading through the material provided at <https://uwm.diveaai.com>. Aquatic Adventures will not be responsible for any inconveniences or issues arising from students claiming to be unfamiliar with the material provided for their benefit on this website.
